COOK BOBS UP AGAIN.

THE ARTIC EXPLORER WILL RETURN AND FACE THE MUSIC AFTER HIS LONG SILENCE.

NEW YORK, March 26—The distinguished Brooklyn explorer, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, is expected back in New York next week. Dr. Cook has been exploring South America, with a view, it is rumored, of going after the south pole. That he is far from broke is evidenced by the fact that he has engaged a suite of rooms in the Waldorf-Astoria.

This information was given by an intimate friend of Dr. Cook, who has been in communication with him by letter and cable since soon after Cook disappeared from this city some months ago.

"Dr. Cook has now recovered entirely from the mental strain to which he was subjected, and which, broke him down completely during the polar controversy," said the Doctor's friend "and he is now ready and anxious to return home. He has cabled to the Waldorf-Astoria to reserve a suite of rooms for himself and wife, and he will live there quietly for a time until he can make other arrangements.

"There are thousands of people, even here in New York, who still believe in Dr. Cook, and the reception he will receive at the hands of his friends will surely be a most cordial one. In many ways he was ill advised during the controversy. He will now be protected by his intimate friends from any annoyance at the hands of the curious or cranks.

"I have been asked if the Doctor will give any more lectures relative to his polar explorations. In reply to this I will say that Dr. Cook looks upon the decision of the Copenhagen scientists as final to a certain degree, although no doubt his friends will make an endeavor to have the decision reversed."

C. O. LIVINGSTON PROPERTY

PURCHASED BY L. G. LYMAN

L. G. Lyman has purchased of Mrs. Martha Livingston, of Jacksonville, 60 feet frontage on Beach street and 85 feet frontage on Orange avenue, that on Orange avenue adjoining his residence on the east and the Beach street frontage lying between the Globe building and the Shanks building in which the Daily News office is located. Mr. Lyman intends to tear down the old residence next to the Globe and remodel and enlarge the frame store building on Orange avenue. Other plans are not yet fully developed.

PEOPLES STATE BANK IS

PREPARING FOR BUSINESS.

The Peters Building, which was purchased several months ago by Cassius M. Carrier, of Sardis, Miss., has been leased for a term of ten years by the People's State Bank, and is being fitted for the purpose by putting in a vault, etc. The lease takes effect April 1, and the bank is expected to open for business about the first of May.

Simply a matter of taste if you want the best Toilet Preparations and at the same time save money, you will make your purchases here. A large variety always on hand and can satisfy all.

BIG GRAFT CASE ON NEXT WEEK.

THE GREAT SCANDAL CASE IN PENNSYLVANIA WILL NOW BE AIDED IN THE COURTS.

HARRISBURG, March 26—The jury panel has been drawn and all preparations have been completed for the trial of Architect Joseph M. Huston, for complicity in the Capitol graft conspiracy, next week. The defendant is specifically charged with having entered into a conspiracy to defraud the State in furnishing 277 desks to the Capitol, on which an overcharge of more than $25,000 is alleged, and of making false entries of the number of feet contained in the desks. Huston has been indicted together with four other men, but was granted a separate trial. The four other men, William Mathews, who was state treasurer at the time the big frauds were committed, John H. Sanderson, the chief "trimmer," Dr. Wm. P. Snyder, who as state auditor general audited the bills of the grafters, and James M. Shumaker the former superintendent of grounds and buildings, were tried and convicted. The former two died before being taken to the penitentiary, while the latter two, after a hard fight in the courts, which extended over nearly two years and ended with the confirmation of their sentence in the Supreme Court, were taken to the Eastern Penitentiary near Philadelphia, on March 8, of this year, and are now serving the two-years terms of imprisonment to which they had been sentenced.

THE W. C. T. U. HOLD AN INTERESTING MEETING

The W. C. T. U. met in regular monthly session at Social Hall, Friday afternoon, March 25th, at 3:00 o'clock.

The president, Mrs. H. G. Porter, presided, and there was much of interest to the members and visitors present in the program and business that followed.

Among the appointment of superintendents over the several departments of work, Mrs. J. R. Bolles was appointed on temperance and labor; Mrs. Walter Edwards on the mothers' meetings, and Mrs. Lillian Keech on the medal contest. It was decided to hold the first mothers' meeting at the home of Mrs. Bolles, on First avenue, Tuesday afternoon, April 5th.

Mrs. F. A. White gave an interesting talk on the anti-saloon work, also on the effects of drinking and card playing. Mrs. Carrie Lockwood sang a solo, which was much enjoyed. Mrs. Bolles read an original poem by Mrs. Keech, entitled, "A True Story," which was highly appreciated by those present.

GREAT PREPARATIONS FOR EASTER IN THE METROPOLIS.

NEW YORK, March 26—Without bringing in any estimates of the professional statistician, it may safely be said that many millions of dollars have been spent in the metropolis in order that Easter may be appropriately observed tomorrow. Of course a very large proportion of this tremendous expenditure has gone to swell the coffers of milliners and modistes—if such persons have coffers. The florists, too, are prospering mightily today, and the stock of many kinds of posies is hardly equal to the demand.

Easter lilies today are "out of sight." Only wealthy may purchase the Bermuda variety. Owing to the early Easter and the exceptionally cool temperature on the Bermuda Islands this winter, the lily crop has been small, and the prices in consequence, range high.

A PLEASANT BOAT PARTY TO ORMOND.

BUT ON THEIR RETURN MACHINERY WENT WRONG AND THEY WALKED HOME.

A party of friends were delightfully entertained by William Ronald, of Daytona Beach, with a launch party to Ormond Friday evening. The glorious moonlight night, the soft velvety air, the swift, even movement of the boat, the gay company, the music, made the trip up the river most enjoyable, in the regulation way, but evidently lacking in incident.

On their return, when the company had somewhat quieted down from their exuberance of spirits, and were thinking pleasantly of "home, sweet, home," and the comforts of a night's rest, the boat ran into a fog, which closed around it like a white blanket, and then it was that there was a creak and a snap in some part of the machinery and the boat stopped—the incident had happened—though neither crew nor company realized it at first, and spent considerable amount of valuable time in trying to mend matters. But at last the fact became patent to those aboard that they must take to the woods in order to reach home. The party succeeded in effecting a landing by means of the life boat. They were about three miles from home, near the old Bush place, but there was nothing for it but "a walk over." Well, they are good pedestrians, and young and philosophic enough to treat the mishap as a joke, and so no harm is done, if nobody tells of it, and, just among themselves they will have it to talk and laugh over for some time.

A CONVENIENT DIRECTORY SYSTEM TO AID VISITORS

A. W. Monick, of Cory, Pa., is a recent arrival in the city and a guest at the Glenn, on North Beach street. Mr. Monick has been spending the winter at St. Petersburg and says some nice things of that resort.

One of the plans used there for assisting visitors in finding friends and acquaintances located in the city might be adopted here to advantage. An open directory or address book is kept at some convenient public place, so that visitors may register, those of each state in a department of its own, making it very convenient for people to look up others who are stopping in the city, whom they might otherwise miss seeing, and in fact would be a very handy reference in many ways.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH IN CHICAGO FIRE.

BOARDING HOUSE FIRE IN CHICAGO RESULTS IN TWO DEATH AND TWO INJURED.

CHICAGO, March 26—Mrs. Carrie Guirna and three months old daughter, Agnes, were burned to death today in a boarding house fire. Frank, Paul and Joseph Guirna were seriously burned. Several are reported missing.

AN AUTOMOBILE PARTY HERE FROM WILLISTON.

J. N. Willis, at one time associated in business with Pierre d'A. Pratt at Seabreeze, and with many friends here, was in the city from yesterday until today, in company with L. C. Hester. Dr. J. N. Willis and Morris Smith. They left Williston yesterday at noon, stopped for an hour at DeLand and reached here at nine o'clock in the evening.

The party left today by way of DeLand, Orlando, Kissimmee and other points on their return to Williston.

W. L. Scott and a pleasant party of ladies consisting of Miss Mattie Munford, Mr. Scott's sister-in-law, an Mrs. McCormick and Miss Estelle Fullenwider, of Shelby County, Ky., who have been located for a time at The Willmer, departed this morning on their return home. The party are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall of North Beach street and Mr. Scott is the senior member of the firm of W. L. Scott & Son, importers and breeders of registered Jersey cattle, Scott's station, Ky.

MORMON MISSIONARIES EXPELLED.

CHARGED WITH CONDUCTING AN IMMORAL PROPAGANDA—HAD ALREADY INDUCED WOMEN AND GIRLS TO EMIGRATE.

BERLIN, March 26—Five women missionaries from Utah were expelled from Saxony today as undesirable aliens, charged with conducting an immoral propaganda. They had already induced many women and girls to emigrate to Utah.

SPEED KING DEPARTS FOR LOS ANGELES

Barney Oldfield, world speed king, accompanied by Mrs. Oldfield, his manager William H. Pickens, and Ben Kerscher, left this morning for Los Angeles to compete in the board track events, April 7 to 16.

Oldfield shipped his three cars by express from DeLand to Los Angeles yesterday.

Walter Christie also left this morning for New York. He car was left here at Green's Garage, as he intends to return, and do more work with the car, tuning it up for the spring and summer racing.

ORTHWEST EXPECTS A BUMPER APPLE CROP

SPOKANE, Wash., March 26—Recent reports from the Pacific Northwest indicate "bright prospects" for a large apple crop this year. Leading orchardists in the Inland Empire are predicting that the harvest this year will break all records. Heaters were used in numerous orchards in Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington on several occasions the past winter, when the temperature touched near the zero mark, and it is the opinion of expert horticulturists that few, if any of the trees were injured by frost.

POCKET BOOK RETURNED BEFORE HE KNEW HIS LOSS.

C. B. Shouse, who is located with Mr. and Mrs. George Beardsley, corner of Orange and Palmetto avenue, dropped a pocket book from a coat pocket while walking on Orange avenue yesterday and did not know of his loss until the pocket book was returned to him by Mayor Greene, to whom it had been turned over by an honest little son of Ham named March Hankinson, who had picked it up and at once delivered it to the mayor. The book contained papers, railway transportation and several dollars in money.

GENERAL PASSENGER AGENTS ENROUTE TO HAVANA.

A special train bearing the western contingent of general passenger agents, with their wives and daughters, enroute to Havana, Cuba, to attend the fifty-fifth annual meeting of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, passed through this city last night a little before eight o'clock, preceding the regular Pullman train, which was off its schedule time.

TAMPA RACING OVER.

TAMPA, Fla., March 26—With the conclusion of today's program, racing is over for the season at the Tampa course. The horsemen will soon be trekking northward, some going direct to New York, while others will stop off at Jamestown, where a meeting will begin next week.

M. L. Ross and Charles L. Morse, who are located on Volusia avenue for the season, returned last night from a week's visit among the everglades. Mr. Ross is very enthusiastic over the future of that section when the drainage plans now proposed, are carried out, opening up the country to settlement.

SENATOR MUCH IMPROVED.

SENATOR DANIEL'S CONDITION IN SEVERAL RESPECTS IS MUCH NEARER NORMAL THAN FOR SOME TIME.

According to the bulletin issued this morning Senator John W. Daniel's condition is much improved being more nearly normal in several respects than at any time since the state of coma set in. Following is the bulletin as issued at eight o'clock this morning.

"Senator Daniel's condition this morning shows improvement over yesterday. He did not sleep as much last night as usual. This morning his pulse, temperature and respiration are practically normal. The eye is clearer and more expressive than yesterday."

SECRETARY BALLINGER WILL NOT ATTEND INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, March 26—Secretary Ballinger will not be called to attend the Congressional inquiry until his attorneys order him to. The committee today, after an executive session, refused the request of Attorney Brandier for prosecution that Ballinger be called immediately. Brandier protested against the decision.

PRISON GUARD SHOT BY NEGRO PRISONER

WILMINGTON, Del., March 26—Thomas McCullough, the prison guard shot by Stephen Hunter, a colored prisoner who was serving a work-sentence, died at the Delaware hospital today. The condition of Guard Hastings, also shot by Hunter, is critical. Hunter was killed by the guards and his body remains at the morgue unclaimed, as his brother from West Chester, Pa., refuses to claim it.

ERUPTION OF MT. AETNA DECREASING CONSIDERABLY.

ATANIA, Italy, March 26—The lava flow from Mt. Aetna increased in volume today, but size of stream down the mountain is retarding rapidly. The people believe that the stoppage is due to prayers and are holding processions and giving thanks English and American tourists are reckless in their efforts at sight seeing and are giving the troops considerable trouble. There is still no loss of life reported.

The ice cream social given by the ladies of the M. E. church, South, at Kingston yesterday afternoon, netted an encouraging sum. All the ice cream was sold, and as a social function it was as much of a success as financially. The sale was conducted on the church grounds, and the afternoon and evening were ideal for such an out of door entertainment. The Sunday School lecture by Dr. C. W. White at the church, following the entertainment drew a large audience.

By L. C. DEMAREE.
One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.
Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom fleck-ed with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.
See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon the beautiful surface. Take out your flinglass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.
Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell-street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.
See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms;
see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamons forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.
No one of Daytona's attractions,
perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering.
"What next?"
It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.
Streets and Pavements the Most
and Best.
Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.
And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,
—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.
Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Frut.
Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.
For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.
Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round you are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.
In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.
The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.
As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.
The Fastest Autos and The Finest
Out.
The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbuctoo, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.
Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from acanter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you do the roads and the beach are yours.
The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down into your wallet only for coin for auto,
and bed and board.
This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Hal-fax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging sea of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.
Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.
The mean average temperature, 80 degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.
The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth
as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straightaway record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.
The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin.
For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach, these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours
it is entirely rebuilt by the tides.
The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet, and can be used for two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.
Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.
Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church; at Daytona Beach is a M. E.
Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the left and right.
All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated.
The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering shrubs have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of bloom both summer and winter.
Work of rebuilding the Clarendon hotel is now in progress. This magnificent fire-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida
East Coast Automobile Association.
The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is lined summer and winter with enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton, who find it nothing unusual to land fish weighing several hundred pounds.

PROGRESSIVE NEW SMYRNA

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low. A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO

Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK

A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND-ON-THE-HALIFAX

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach.

Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with subtropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobilism, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moundgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moundgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

COTTAGES AND ROOMS TO LET—Furnished; Modern Improvements; on River Front or Side Streets. Rents Reasonable. Write to W. F. COLBY at Ormond.

DELAND, THE ATHENS OF FLORIDA

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

ORANGE CITY

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

PICTURESQUE PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grapefruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Dr. P. H. Ingalls left yesterday on his return to Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Ingalls will remain here for some time longer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Marvin, who have been located with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Miller on Cedar street, left a few days since on their return to Lewistown, Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Steadman, who are friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moore, and who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Moore, at their winter home on Ridgewood avenue, departed this morning on their return to Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pence and little daughter, Charlotte, and nurse, and Mrs. Edward Osborn, a sister of Mrs. Pence, who have been visiting with Mr. Pence's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Pence, on South Palmetto avenue, departed this morning on their return to Minneapolis, Minn.

C. W. White, State secretary of the M. E. South Sunday Schools, lectured at the M. E. Church, Kingston, Thursday and Friday nights on organization and work in the Sunday School. Mr. White is an interesting speaker, and there was a good attendance on both evenings. He left for Jacksonville last night after the lecture.

The funeral of Mrs. W. W. Van Dorn took place this morning at 10:00 o'clock from the residence of her son, Henry Van Dorn, on West Volusia avenue. A number of friends and old settlers of the city were present to pay last tribute. A short but very impressive service was conducted by Rev. D. D. Diefenweir, pastor of the Kingston M. E. church. There were many beautiful floral pieces, some of the flowers being from Mrs. Van Dorn's own home garden in which she had always taken great pride and carefully had tended.

HILL CLIMB AT ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Ga., March 26 — This year's automobile hill climb, the fourth to be held under the auspices of an Atlanta newspaper has attracted many entries and a goodly number of spectators will witness the event.

He Knew Them.

"The pastor of a Tallapoosa church," said a southern senator, "said rather pointedly from the pulpit one Sunday morning: 'Ah suttin an' ref'iced to see Brud-dah Calhoun White in chu'ch once mo'. Ah's glad Brud-dah Calhoun has saw de error of his ways at lawst, fo' dere is mo' joy obah one sinnah dat repenteth dan obah de ninety an' nine'—"

"But at this point Brother Calhoun White interrupted angrily. "'Oh,' said he from his seat, 'de ninety an' nine needn't crow. Ah could tell some things about ninety an' nine ef Ah wanted ter.'"

He Who Laughs Last, Etc.

The old colored man had climbed into the dentist's chair of torture. "Shall I give you laughing gas, uncle?" queried the tooth carpenter. "Not till after de toof am out, boss," replied the old man. "Reckon mebbe Ah'll feel mo' lake laffin' den."—Chicago News.

His Failing.

"You are beside yourself," he retorted haughtily. She gave a shrill, unpleasant laugh. "Seeing double again, eh?" she cried.

The Hint That Failed.

NEWS ABOUT ORMOND AND ORMOND RESIDENTS AND SOJOURNERS TOLD IN INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

The Fourth Day Club meets with Miss Yeats next week. Now comes the problem of deciding what to do with the neat nest egg gathered this winter.

John Beilly took Major Lewis and Councilman Milligan in the Myrta on a fishing trip up the Tomoka this week. The two guests did not get many fish but spent most of the time untangling their lines. Twice they were obliged to get out on the bank and get their lines in condition. But they had a fine day of it.

W. G. MacKendrick and wife and sister-in-law, Miss King, of Toronto, Canada, arrived Wednesday and spent three days at the Hotel Ormond. Mr. MacKendrick is nephew to Mrs. J. Milligan. He is president of the Bituminous Paving Company that does work in all parts of Canada. The party came down by boat from New York and go as far south as Palm Beach. They return by Sanford and the St. Johns river.

A FAMOUS JOKER.

The editor of the Ormond Gazette-News received a call last Monday from Edwin A. Oliver, editor, chief owner and joke maker of the Yonkers Statesman. When you see a joke quoted from the Yonkers Statesman, and that is a very frequent occurrence, Mr. Oliver should be held responsible for it. But Mr. Oliver talked for an hour soberly and sedately, never cracking a joke until the very last, when he handed over his "card" which was a lead pencil sharpened ready for use and containing these words: "A joke with a point to it from Edwin A. Oliver of the Yonkers Statesman." Mr. Oliver loves Ormond and has spent a part of every winter at the Hotel Ormond for the past five seasons.

ORMOND HOTEL NEWS

The annual golf tournament is the event that calls for first notice this week. It is always interesting and this year had a special sentiment about it for it is the last tournament that will be held on the old links. The new eighteen hole course by the beach is nearly clear now and the grass will be sown at the end of the month, so the next season will see it ready for use. It will be quite as good a course as any in the State and will probably make Ormond, even more than it now.

is, a center for golfers.

Sixteen gentlemen qualified for the tournament with the following scores: Mr. Kimball, 77; Mr. Kennedy, 87; Mr. Eustis, 93; Mr. Colburn, 85; Mr. Huston, 85; Mr. Cooke, 89; Mr. Meeker, 86; Mr. Strong, 99; Dr. Parks, 96; Mr. Riley, 85; Mr. Vickers, 94; Mr. Otter, 96; Mr. Fluhart, 101; Mr. Boyd, 95; Mr. Joyce, 102; Mr. Haselton, 103. In the first round of match play Messrs. Huston, Colburn, Cooke, Kimball, Joyce, Kennedy, Boyd and Eustis won over the other eight and the two divisions played for the first and consolation cups respectively. In the second round Messrs. Huston, Kimball, Kennedy and Eustis, in the first class, were winners, and in the final play Mr. Kimball won the first prize, Mr. Eustis taking the Runner-up cup. Among the gentlemen playing for the consolation cup, Messrs. Riley, Meeker, Strong and Otter won on the second day, and in the finals Mr. Meeker defeated Mr. Strong for the cup.

The handicap match was extremely interesting. Mr. Riley won, but he had the lowest score even without his handicap of seven, so that he was doubly entitled to the cup. Mr. Kimball, as the score shows, also won the qualification cup. The victorious gentlemen come from widely separate parts of the country; Mr. Kimball from Omaha, Mr. Eustis, Cincinnati, Mr. Meeker from Baltimore and Mr. Riley from Rochester, N. Y.

On St. Patrick's Day the employees of the hotel gave a most amusing and successful masquerade ball for the benefit of their sick fund. The whole procession marched through the hotel corridors before entering the dancing room and won hearty applause from everybody. They had done wonders with the little choice of material and the costumes were at once artistic and amusing. There were Columbias and Merry Widows and Red Riding Hoods and Erins and Flowers of various kinds. The more material things were not forgotten either, for there was Poland water and Fifty-seven varieties. A capital "colored market woman" carried a huge basket of vegetables and had great success as her splendid get up and ready with deserved. Over seventy dollars were raised for the sick fund.

Although the hotel is still very well filled, a good many of the guests who have been here all season have left and their departure was the occasion of many informal dinners and luncheons. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Irons, who have had a cottage here all season, and have entertained a great deal have left. Mrs. Albret Goodrich of Chicago, is another hostess that will be missed. A number of the motorist fraternity also left on Monday: Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Kaufman, of Marquette, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Woodman, of Portland, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, also of Portland; E. C. Simmons and Miss Glenn, of St. Louis; O. S. Johnson, of Scranton and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams, of Bristol, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jordan, of Portland, who have many friends at Ormond, left also.

On the other hand, a great many guests have arrived this week: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, of New York, have come for a week or so, and have an automobile. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Carill of New York and Mrs. Edwin Gilbert, of Georgetown, Conn., have also brought an automobile with them to help them make the most of a week at Ormond. Mr. and Mrs. J. Lorimer Worden, Mrs. F. H. Brown and W. M. Wright came down the Indian river in their yacht and spent a few days at Ormond before continuing their trip south. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hall, of Providence, R. I., will stay here until almost the end of the season. Edward Markley is one of the new arrivals who will not leave until the very end. Peter Quackenbush of Patterson, and Miss Emma R. Rouchfuss will be here some time. Other guests who will stay well towards the close of the season are Mrs. and Miss McRoberts of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Prior, of Brooklyn, C. A. Grinnell, of Detroit, who has joined Mrs. Grinnell, Mrs. A. G. Maig, Mrs. G. A. Busse, and Miss Bertha Lembecke, of Chicago.

Mrs. A. B. Robinson and Misses Robinson of Jacksonville have come down to join Mr. Robinson at Hotel Ormond.

A number of transient guests come up from southern resorts on every train and most of them break the journey by staying over three or four days at Hotel Ormond, so that the place continues full in spite of the departures of guests who have made it their headquarters through the winter.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

A SILLY WOMAN.

A Chicago wife is trying to get a divorce on these grounds:

Her husband, she says in her complaint, "does not measure up to the standard of heroism so evident in the leading male figures of novels in size, grace or daring."

Eliehu! If this woman should succeed on these allegations, where would the rest of married mankind appear?

Very few average husbands are able to measure up to the heroes in the pages of Meredith, Nicholson and McCutcheon either as to "size, grace or daring."

Of course the Chicago wife has merely read herself into rapid imbecility, but she is nevertheless a pronounced type of other women who compare their everyday husbands with the armored knights who, with caparisoned horses and nodding plumes, amble through the pages of Booth Tarkington and Walter Scott.

Pitiful? It is pitiful not only from the side of the honest, striving husband, but pitiful because the woman who pines for a hero in jingling harness is not able to recognize the real husband hero at her side.

There is a heroism in doing one's plain duty that is worth more than a library of book gallantry.

Looking for heroes?

Many an undersized, round shouldered, hardworking husband is living in daily martyrdom for the sake of his family. And the pathetic part of it is nobody, least of all his family, is able to see the sacrifice.

And scarcely does the victim himself realize. He does not complain and would laugh at being called a hero.

Heroism?

How is the rescue of a fair maiden from some high castle tower to be compared with the daily grind of a devoted man toiling like the slave of a galley to give his wife position or comforts or working himself into his grave to give his children such an education as was denied him when a boy?

Romance?

It is the romance of reality! Stupid and blind, the woman who sighs for "grace and daring" in her husband and who cannot see in his daily self abnegation and heroic striving the beauty and the grace of true chivalry.

Preparing For the Future.

In order that she may be guided by his gentle influence in the future Mrs. Lysander John Appleton has had her husband say into a phonograph, "Make that go as far as you can." After he is gone and she is a widow she will have the phonograph repeat this record to her whenever she starts downtown to spend as much as a dime. —Arlington Globe.

It Beats
The Deuce

This is what a prominent citizen said yesterday: "It beats the deuce that any man or woman should try to get along in this day and age without regularly reading the home newspaper."

Our subscription list shows that there aren't many such in this town.

The Stronger Material.

A crockery dealer was just closing up his store for the day when one of his customers, a grocer, came in in a great hurry.

"Here," said he, "I packed this jar full of butter and the jar split from top to bottom. Perhaps you can explain the phenomenon."

"Oh, yes; I can," was the ready reply. "The butter was stronger than the jar."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Fate of the Oneida.

One of the most extraordinary catastrophes that have befallen vessels of the United States destroyed the sloop of war Oneida in 1869. She was bound homeward, with a jolly ship's company, eager to see wives and sweethearts and native land once more, when not far out of port she was struck by the British steamer Bombay coming in. The stem of the Bombay cut off the stern of the Oneida. The ship was sinking rapidly, and guns of distress were immediately fired, but the Bombay steamed on her way and left the vessel to her doom. She went down, and all but one or two of her crew were drowned. The captain of the Bombay gave no other reason for his conduct than that he had Lady Eyre, the wife of a distinguished British satrap, on board and did not wish to disturb her nerves with scenes of shipwreck. He was mobbed when he reached Yokohama, dismissed from the service, socially tabooed from that time on and died in disgrace a year or two later.

Where Hypnotism Failed.

When Daysey Mayme Appleton returned recently from a party where the influence of several minds over one had been the evening's entertainment and told her mother how six girls, with their minds bent on one thought, had made a man stand on his head, another man at their silent command had tried on a woman's hat and another man had tried to eat water with a fork, it put a suggestion into Mrs. Lysander John Appleton's brain. That evening when Lysander John came home his wife and four daughters sat in a circle with their hands covering their faces and their heads bowed. To all his inquiries they said nothing, and at last, fearing they had gone mad, he sent for the doctor. "We concentrated our minds on the thought that Lysander John must give us $5 each, and instead of that we have a doctor bill to pay," sobbed Mrs. Appleton, "and they said it would be particularly easy to work if the man's mind was a blank."—Aitchison Globe.

To Get His Money's Worth.

In a village near Edinburgh there lived an old baker and his son. Their trade was in a flourishing condition, but unfortunately in the midst of their prosperity the old man, who had once been a great drinker, turned insane. The son, who was renowned for his love of money, was forced to put him in a lunatic asylum and, according to the terms of the establishment, to pay a fee for three months in advance, amounting to £30. The old man was scarcely in a fortnight, however, when he died. The son, thinking to raise an action against the establishment for the recovery of the fee, as he termed it, unused money, inquired of an old lawyer who was a bit of a wag whether he thought it would be prudent to try to recover the money or not. The chip of the law, putting on a grave face, replied seriously, "I've no think it was best to gang and put in the rest o' the time yerse!"

He Saw a Great Light.

Wrecks on the coast of Cornwall, England, were once a source of revenue to the natives. A writer says that in the local dialect "the folks on the coast taich their children to yay in their prayers night times, 'God bless father an' mother an' zend a ship to shore vore mornin'." The Cornish folk were great smugglers too. The Rev. R. S. Hawker had in his service as man of all work old Tristram Pentire, the last of the smugglers. One day he made to the vicar this notable confession: "Well, sir, I do think, when I come to look back and to consider what lives we used to live—drunk all night and idle abed all day, cursing, swearing, fighting, gambling, lying and always prepared to shoot the gauger—I do really believe, sir, we surely was in sin!"

An apprentice sailor boy fell from the round top of a vessel to the deck and was stunned, but little hurt. "Where did you come from?" exclaimed the captain in surprise. "From the north of Ireland, your honor!" was the prompt reply.—London Telegraph.

The Story of a Statue.

There was set up in the seventeenth century at Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, what is probably the most curious piece of art extant, erected to the memory of Sir Robert Holmes, a British naval officer of that period. The odd circumstance is that the statue was not originally designed for Holmes at all, but for a very different personage, no other, indeed, than Louis XIV. of France. This statue, finished as to the figure, but in the rough as to the head, was being taken to France on an Italian vessel when it was captured by a British man-of-war commanded by Holmes. Upon perceiving the unfinished condition of the statue Holmes, with grim humor, compelled the artist, who had accompanied his work, to chisel his (Holmes') head on the king's body. And so it stands today. Holmes was eventually made governor of the Isle of Wight, which fact accounts for the location of this mongrel bit of artistry.

The Lottery Mania.

The first lottery on record in England was drawn in London in 1569, the proceeds being devoted to public purposes. Four hundred thousand lots were drawn for the prizes of cash and silver plate, and for four months nothing else was thought or talked of, and the delight of the winners and the despair of the unfortunates seemed equally exaggerated. A perfect epidemic of lotteries followed, there being no laws upon the subject, and soon there were lottery tailors, lottery tea merchants, lottery barbers (who with each shave at threepence gave a ticket that might draw a ten pound prize), lottery shoeblacks, lottery eating houses where for sixpence a plate of meat and the chance of drawing 60 guineas were given, and so on down to a sausage stall in a narrow alley, where it was written that he who bought a farthing's worth of sausage might realize a capital of 5 shillings.

Trials of a Lecturer.

A well known Englishwoman lecturer tells some stories at her own expense.

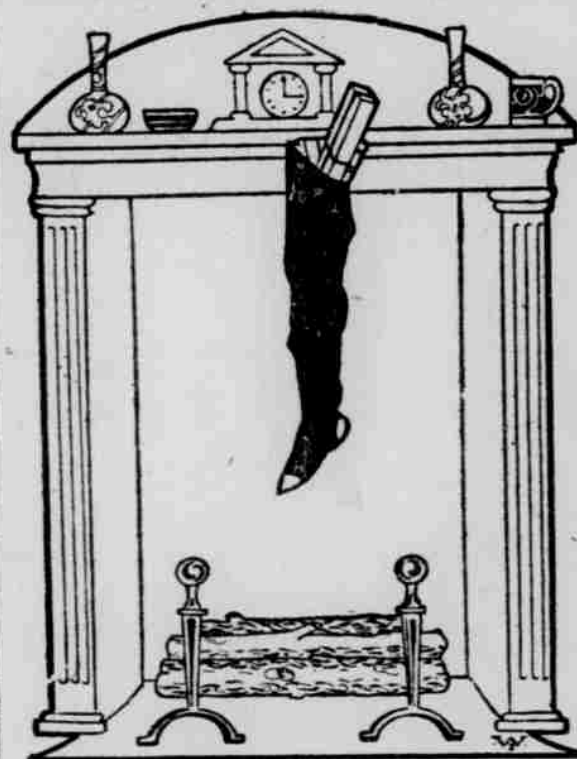

"I was," she says, "on a tour through the provinces, and one night as I appeared on the platform in a small town the chairman introduced me to my audience in the following way: 'You have heard of Mr. Gladstone, the Grand Old Man. Let me now introduce to you the grand old woman.' This was intended as a sincere compliment."

"On another occasion a bluff old farmer who boasted of his ability to look on all sides of a question announced me as follows: 'This lady's come here to talk about her rights. She's hired the hall herself, and so she's got a right to be here, and if any of you don't like what she's got to say you've got an equal right to walk out in the middle on't.'"

Leaning Tower in England.

The famous leaning tower of Pisa has a rival in the Temple tower of Bristol, in England. It is a square tower of early Gothic architecture. All its parts still preserve their normal relative positions without cracks or fissures. The tower, which is about 115 feet high, is five feet out of perpendicular at the summit. There are no records to show whether the inclination was part of the architect's design or whether it is the result of an earthquake or of slow changes in the inclination of the soil. For many years there has been no change in the slope of the tower.

When Hugo Was Poor.

Victor Hugo was at the time of his death the wealthiest of nineteenth century authors. In his younger days, however, he knew the pangs of poverty, as after a quarrel with his father, General Hugo, he and his brother had their allowances stopped. "We made 800 francs last eighteen months. One chop would serve for lunch three days in succession. On the first day we would eat the lean, on the second day the fat, and on the third day we would suck the bone. We discovered a place in the Quartier Latin where for 15 sous (15 cents) we obtained a four course dinner, a bottle of wine and as much bread as we liked. For another day we obtained the sweetest of smiles from the pretty girl who looked after us." This regime does not appear to have spoiled Hugo's digestion, for at the age of eighty-three he cracked nuts with his teeth and ate oranges as some people eat apples—peel and all.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

By LEONARD MALLOY.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Ralph Kirby, convict, having a good record, was ordered to work with a party outside the prison enclosure. Of course prison officials stood over the workmen with loaded rifles and revolvers, so escape was as difficult as when they were within the walls.

But something came up in comparison with which the rifles of the guards were but as popguns. Kirby looked up from his work and saw a black cloud coming that looked more terrible than the judge who years before had passed sentence upon him. It was balloon shaped, the neck trailing on the ground. He glanced at the guards and saw that they were standing with their backs to the prison wall, with the cloud also behind them. He worked on and said nothing, but a hope was rising and swelling in his breast.

It passed between him and his guards. Being forewarned, he threw himself flat on the ground and held on to a stout bush. When it had passed the guards were nowhere to be seen. There was method in what he did when he started to run in the wake of the storm. It was the only direction he could go to find possible safety. He ran a mile over a ruined strip of country, when he came to a small village that had been wrecked. Before a house that had been turned around and blown over on its side a man was lying on his back dead. Kirby noticed that the head had been disfigured beyond recognition. He was planning ahead, and his plans were made with lightning rapidity. He took the dead man's clothing for himself and put his stripes on the dead man. Then, taking up the body, he carried it to a distance from the wrecked village and threw it in a ditch to make it appear that it had been carried by the cyclone from the prison.

The storm had no sooner passed than parties were sent out to scour the country for those convicts who had escaped. But they were not the only persons moving about. Without the narrow belt traversed by the storm no one had been injured, and rescue parties were coming from all directions. Kirby, whose long confinement had brought ill health, had by this time used up all his strength. In the outskirts of the village a house had been reduced to a heap of kindling wood. Kirby decided to crawl in under the wreck. He had wormed himself in as far as possible when a rescue party came along and, seeing his boots, uncovered him. Feigning death, he lay on his back, but one of the party put his ear to the convict's heart and heard it throbbing. Liquor was poured down his throat, and he knew that his sham could not be kept up. Through partly closed lids he saw that no prison official was present, and he opened his eyes. He begged the party to leave him and go on to others who needed their attention. They were persuaded and did as he suggested.

Then came another party, and the convict, mistaking them for searchers from the prison, again feigned death. By this time it was dark, and his effort was more successful—almost too successful. They began to dig beside him, and when they had made a shallow grave they put him in and covered him with earth. He was about to cry out, when it occurred to him that they were not burying him deep and the earth above him would be loose. No sooner had the shovelfuls of clods ceased to pound him than he began to push them away for air.

Meanwhile all who could be spared from the prison were scouring the country far and wide. Judging that those who had escaped would attempt to hide in the track of the storm, they followed it, and one of them, Jim Mackin, came upon the body wearing Kirby's stripes. He identified it as Kirby by the clothes and concluded that there was one less prisoner to be recaptured. Being well armed, he pushed on alone. As the burying party were completing their work of covering Kirby, Mackin was approaching the grave, and they disappeared in the darkness just before he came up. Seeing something moving directly before him, Mackin threw a light from his lantern upon the spot just in time to strike the corpse-like face of Convict Kirby rising from the grave.

Prison officials are not likely to be easily rattled, but Mackin had a few minutes before seen the body of the convict, and the sight of the dead man's features confronting him in this fashion was too much for his nerves. Throwing down his gun and lantern, he ran as fast as his legs would carry him.

Kirby, kicking off the earth, arose from his grave, picked up the lantern and was hurrying away when he saw the light glisten on metal and found the gun. This gave him courage. He could either appear to be hunting for bodies or convicts as he liked. He worked his way through the people scurrying about till he heard a distant locomotive whistle. A few minutes later he struck the rails and by the lights near by a station. Best of all, the locomotive headlight shone far down the road and was slowly growing brighter. Throwing away his gun and lantern, he ran for the station and reached it just as the train pulled out. Being without money and fearing the station would be watched, he darted under a car and clung to the bottom.

Ralph Kirby is now a sheep raiser in Australia. He has been hunted for, not to be again imprisoned, but to be informed that the man who committed the crime he was convicted of has confessed. He has passed a point where the information would not materially interest him.

A BURIAL.

By MARTHA V. MONROE.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

The sun was standing low off the coast, about to go down into a bank of red clouds, when a French ship was noticed making for the harbor. She came on until within a mile of the docks, when she was brought up to the wind and the stillness was broken by the rattle of her anchor chain in her hawse pipes, followed by another rattle marking the lowering of her sails.

On the dock were various loiterers all looking at the Frenchman. There were customs house men, ready to balk any attempt at smuggling, free traders watching for an opportunity to get goods off the new comer without payment of duties, and the chronic loafer, who has no business in view whatever. The chief of the customs officers deployed his subordinates as a general would post his men to be ready to meet a possible attack. He was a pompous old fellow, seemingly as anxious to display his zeal as to do his duty by his government and ready to nip in the bud any attempt to run goods ashore surreptitiously.

"They are lowering a boat, sir," said one of his men, saluting respectfully.

"Notify all the stations," was the prompt reply. "It will doubtless not move till after dark, when it will make for one of the creeks. She must be intercepted."

But the boat did not wait for the darkness. She put off as soon as released from the davits, and, what was still less anticipated, was pulled directly for the dock where the chief was standing. On came the boat, bobbing up and down over the waters, whose crests were made blood red by the rays of the sinking sun.

"They've got a box aboard, sir," remarked a customs officer.

The chief knit his brow and drew down the corners of his mouth severely, indicating that any attempt to defraud the government would go hard with the perpetrators, but on second thought he concluded that people did not attempt to smuggle thus openly and relaxed.

"It's a coffin, sir," said another. "Somebody's dead."

"Of course if there's a coffin," said the chief sternly, "somebody's dead. You don't suppose they'd be bringing it ashore empty."

When the boat pulled up at the foot of the steps of the dock those looking on took off their hats respectfully in presence of the dead. A Frenchman with a serious expression came up, and the chief of the customs advanced to meet him.

"Are you the mayor?" asked the sailor in broken speech.

"I'm the collector of the port," was the dignified reply.

"Well, monsieur, if you have the authority I would be obliged if you would grant us a permit to bury a body in your cemetery. I had on board my ship an American missionary lady, coming home from India. She was delicate, and from the first, having worn out her body in an execrable climate in the service of the Lord, I feared that she would never complete the voyage. Growing rapidly worse, she exacted a promise from me that in case she died before reaching port I would not commit her body to the deep. 'The waves are so dreadful,' she said, 'so merciless. Take me to the shore, put me in the ground and plant a willow beside my grave.'"

The captain paused, took out a bandanna handkerchief and wiped his eyes.

"Pardon this emotion, monsieur, but the good lady was so kind to us all. Every one of my men was devoted to her. She converted nearly all the crew."

He turned, cast a glance at the men in the boat, and they, too, showed a similar emotion.

"To keep my promise and to do what little I can to return the many kindnesses of this admirable woman I came far out of my way at great loss of time and money to leave her remains in your soil. I trust now that I have told my simple story you will not refuse me."

The chief stood listening respectfully, feelingly to the recital. Though a pompous man, he was a tender hearted one, and the story moved him.

"Do not think, monsieur," he said, "that the French are the only people to possess that consideration for their fellows which, I admit, they have to an extraordinary degree. Permit me to thank you in the name of the United States government for your kindness to an American lady. Bid your men remove the body from the boat and I will myself conduct you to our little cemetery."

He sent a messenger ahead to make the necessary arrangements, and when the coffin was brought ashore a procession of melancholy sailors, nearly all in tears, wended its way slowly toward the cemetery. Then after waiting a short while for the completion of the opening of the grave, the body was deposited, the sailors returned to the dock and after a profusion of thanks on the part of the polite French captain they pulled out to the vessel and soon after made sail.

At midnight a party visited the missionary's grave, took out the coffin, and another procession proceeded inland to a desolate spot where few passed even by day. There they ruthlessly took off the cover and removed silks and lace to the value of many thousand dollars. This they placed in separate covers and, loading them on a light wagon, drove off to market the next day the remains of the sailors' beloved missionary, they participating in the profits.

Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn;
If you don't it won't be blown.
The people won't flock
To buy your stock
If you never make it known.

So, Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn;
It's the proper business caper,
And the very best way
To make it pay
Is to blow it through this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Banks, friends of Mrs. C. B. Williams, of First avenue, who is from the same city, Bridgeton, N. J., were in the city from the forepart of the week until Thursday, coming down from St. Augustine where they had been staying, upon the steamer, Republic.

J. C. Clark, of Atlantic City, N. J., has purchased Mrs. B. F. Ibach's property interests in Bay street and expects to make his home here. Mr. Clark says he was particularly interested in Daytona by its freedom from drunkenness and lawlessness, as well as its natural beauty and attractiveness.

*FOR SALE—DeDietrich automobile 30 h. p.; good condition. Will sell for 10 per cent of original cost. Can be seen at Ormond, ready for demonstration. Apply Daily News office. 22-6t

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mikesell and Mrs. Theo Beardsley who have been located in the Rix cottage on South Palmetto avenue during the winter, left yesterday on their return to Charlotte, Mich. Mr. Mikesell is one of the veteran fisherman and has been coming to Daytona for the past nine years.

David Hall, a regular winter visitor and a brother of Wm. Hall of North Beach street, left yesterday afternoon on his return to Mechanicsburg, Ill. Mr. Hall is a widower and a group of ladies from The Morgan, where he had been located this winter, escorted him to the train and bid him good bye amid a shower of rice, much to his surprise and the interest and amusement of the onlookers, who were unable to pick out the bride.

E. L. Gunn, superintendent of the electric light plant, was a New Smyrna visitor between trains, yesterday.

W. H. Peter's sons, Orville and William arrived yesterday from Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., for a week or ten days visit, having earned the vacation by special merit in their school work.

E. W. Stevens, of Hartford, Conn., who has spent a number of seasons in Daytona and this winter has been located at The Glenn, left yesterday for Jacksonville, where he will spend a month before going North. Mr. Stevens tried the Gulf Coast and other points but finally decided upon Daytona as the best place to winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Merwin and son Ira, and their nephew, Abraham Hasbrouck, who have been located on South Ridgewood avenue during the winter, left yesterday for their home in Walkill, N. Y., in company with several other residents of that place, who have been sojourning here this season. Mr. Merwin and family are Daytona regulars and have many friends here.

Byron Stewart and his young friend Morgan Robinson, who have been located on West Volusia avenue during the season, left yesterday on their return to Oswego, N. Y. Mr. Stewart may not have eaten mullet, but he was a great pedestrian, notwithstanding the fact that he brought an automobile with him, and probably got enough Florida sand in his shoes to bring him back to Daytona next winter.
